What's new in Fire Pro Wrestling World - Fire Promoter:

What does Gavin Stone do for a living? Who is about to start wrestling for CZW? What is known about the “International Office”? What is the Fire Pro Wrestling World roster? And who is that masked man on the perimeter? Fire Pro Wrestling World is the new competitive wrestling show from Mick Foley and company, with a roster more packed with talent that they expected. In addition to a strong international and local component, the larger focus of the show is clearly on the long line of newish competitors such as Angel Warrior, Ganryu, Gedo and Jack Evans, along with new discoveries. This week, we focus not on the past but the future. So sit back and enjoy our interviews with Fire Pro World competitors and staff. Gavin Stone How many days a week are you available to work? Tuesday-Saturday. Tell me about your career. What got you into wrestling, and what made you want to jump into it full time? Wrestling was always a passion of mine since I was a kid. Early in my career I wrestled at the World Theatres in Toronto. It was a lot of fun and I got to work with some big names that I’ll never forget, like Big Bill Soose, Sid Vicious, John Stevens, and long time CZW star Duke Durell. However I soon began to have a problem with health issues. I was always fit, but on the road I became very weak. I did get stronger as time went on though, and I was able to wrestle under 80% of my career capacity. When I became a father, I decided to start making a full time living from wrestling. I worked out in the gym at CZW’s training facility for 6 months and put everything into this new career shift. It took 4 years of wrestling to get to this point with CZW. In 2004 I started in CZW’s program, which was their SoH selection bracket. I’m very thankful I was able to get on with the company as it was a way to get pro wrestling back in my life. I love the Toronto area and wanted to stay here as a pro wrestler. In 2005 I made up my mind that I would try for CZW’s TOP ROGER project as it was the big league CZW start after only 4 years in the company. I got my fair share of losing matches and it definitely seems
